LASELL JUNIOR COLLEGE

RIWER Day, 1950—1939—1948—1962: The bank of the Charles River is crowded with excited Lasellites, some spectators, some waiting their turn to stroke their class to victory in the races. It's a bright and beautiful day, and we've been looking forward to this for a long time. At last around the bend in the river come the red canoes. We shade our eyes against the shine of sun on water, get our cameras ready and at the exact moment snap a picture of the lead canoe—its captain, our Miss Mac. This snapshot doesn't have to be developed, for we will always remember the way Miss Mac looked on River Day and through all the long spring days before that when she coached us at Crew. We'll remember too, her consistent humor and sportsmanship.

Those of us who are able to meet Miss Mac only in her official capacities as Assistant to the Dean or Head of the Physical Education Department, will find she displays in business those same qualities that endeared her to those she coached.

Although she is often to be found in the Gym Office, on the hockey field, driving the station wagon or smiling from behind her desk in the Main Office, her real home on Campus is at Mrs. Lindquist's. There she spends her limited free time brewing excellent coffee which she refuses to drink, and talking up a passion against bridge. Canasta, she claims, is a bit more to her liking. "It doesn't take brains to play it!" All of us who know her can't help but smile at this, for we are aware of the job she has juggling schedules, rooms and prospective students. She loves sleep but never gets enough, probably because she spends so much time doing things for other people.

She has a tremendous sense of humor, is always cheerful and entertaining. Whenever we see the tall blond figure striding across Campus, hands in pockets, we're sure of a quick wave of the hand and a greeting by name.

Miss Mac's wonderful smile and warm blue eyes welcomed us even before we were students, and at Commencement she is the last to say good-bye. Throughout the year we come to her with our problems, confident that, whatever their nature, they will receive her full consideration. We know too, that she is an expert judge of character, and it behooves us to be as sincere in our dealings with her as she is with us.

In years to come, when we think back to our time here, we will immediately think of Miss Mac, remembering all that she has done for us and for the college. Lasell is Miss Mac and Miss Mac is Lasell.

Miss Muriel McClelland

Presenting Her Right Honorable Mayorship, Miss Sally Hughes—Above-average American Girl, among the first to greet new residents, elected by the citizens for her consistently outstanding contributions to community life.

Winslow Municipal Building, the town's newest completed building—a spot to which citizens point with pride. Located on Maple Street, overlooking the Community Athletic Field, Winslow occupies a central position, geographically and socially.

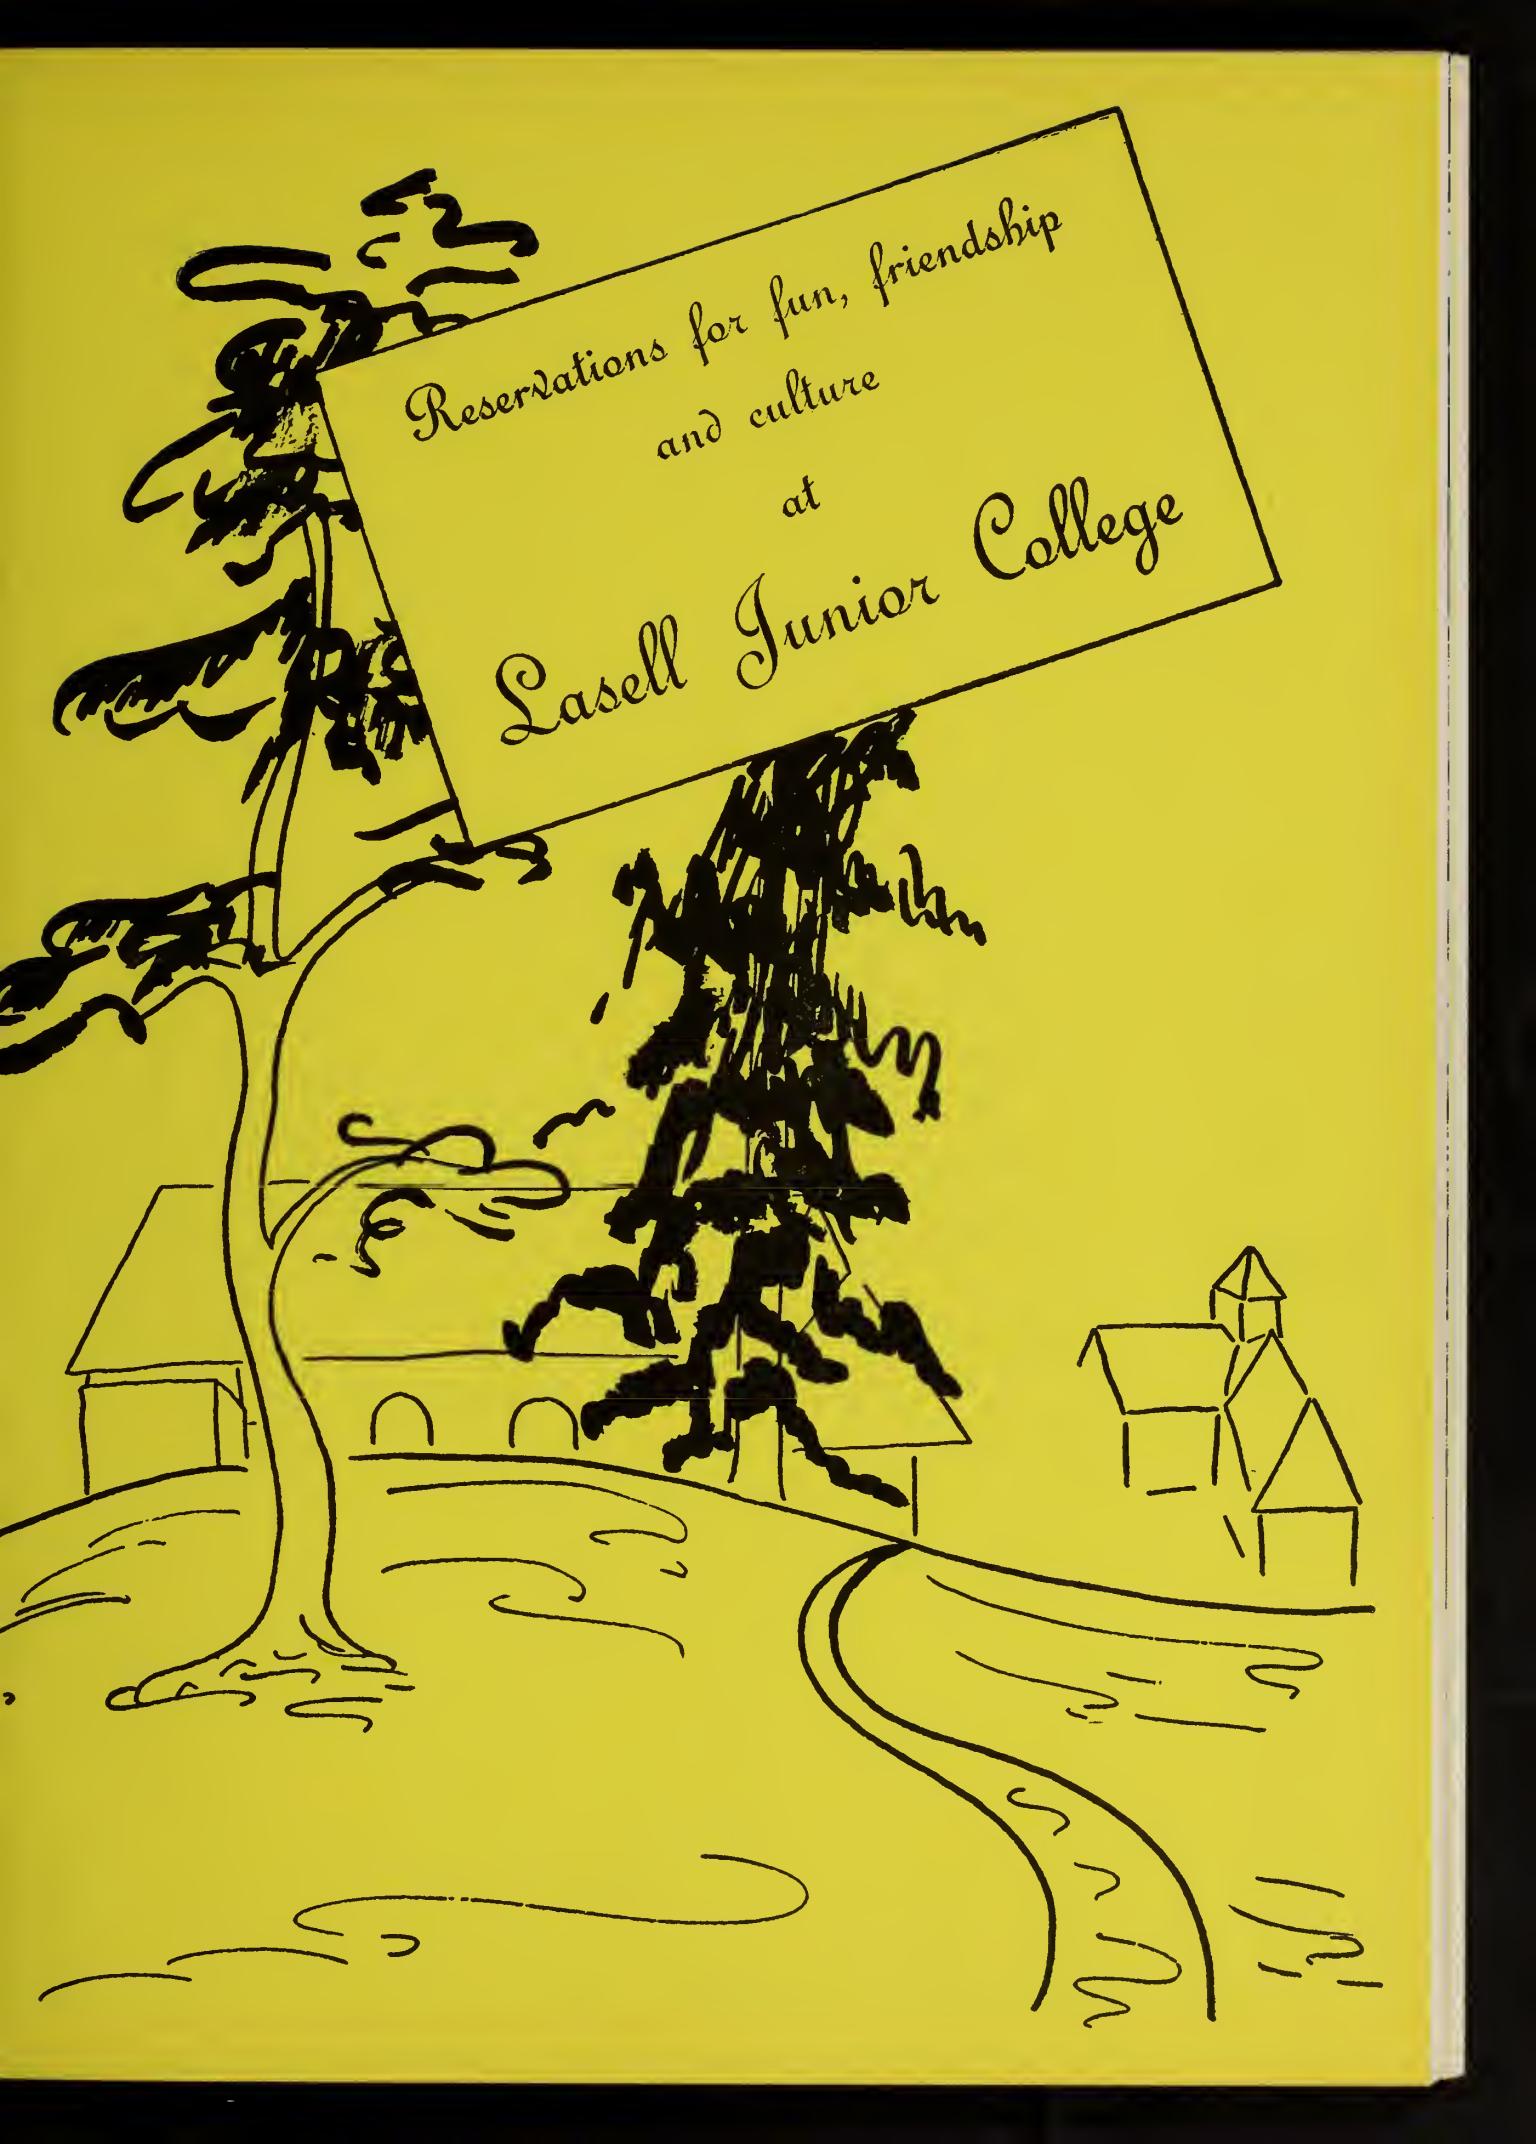

The building and landscaping are especially beautiful in spring and fall, when the flame bushes, tulips and forsythia contrast with the dark pine and ivy.

Here nearly all important activities are held. Here the Vesper services are heard on cold January nights, when the Seniors plod through the snow, carefully holding up their gowns. Here, the Community Sings, with everyone trying to out-shout everyone else. Town meetings, orientation programs for the new citizens, bridge parties, fashion shows, dance symposiums, indoor sports—all are carried on under this roof. Walls are slid back, seats are put up, taken down, tables are arranged and a hundred activities can take place. Sometimes movies are shown, merchandising films, and abstract art films, pictures of the Olympics, travel movies to entice the citizens to see more of their country. The Ladies Aid moves in with hot dogs and bootees, coffee and copper candlesticks for the Bazaar. Miss Wethern and the Community Workshop Players rehearse, paint flats, and produce an evening's entertainment. We hang panels, strew leaves, dim the lights and dreamily change the atmosphere for Proms, with the men in black tie and the gals in tulle and organdy, drifting out to dance on the terrace or sit under the old pine.

Long after they have left, the citizens will remember Winslow as an integral part of Lasell.

Carpenter

Return, and a change of address as we settle in our new homes on Woodland Road, on Hawthorne, on Maple Street. The yard is filled with trucks and taxis, fathers and moving men staggering under the weight of our new wardrobes, small brothers clutching our portable radios and the family cocker. Mothers clutch our small brothers while we forget them all in the excitement of reunion.

Our wonderful, wonderful smoker...Never enough tables in the kitchen to take care of the multitude of bridge fiends...Numerous notes on the bulletin board...25 "Hammerheads"—Carpenter's tools...The front door is never locked...Parties in the living room...Ten bushels of popcorn...Smiles for Friday on every "shiny" face.

Here a group of new citizens are registering vital information in order to be able to vote, learning where the office buildings are located and the hours of their jobs, and receiving maps and pamphlets which will acquaint them with the town.

As in every community there is a certain inevitable period of adjustment. One might almost call it "initiation". However, this only serves to provide amusement for some of the older and more sedate citizenry, and bring to the fore the good sportsmanship of the younger.

New residents and old start each year with a trip to the General Store and Post Office to buy such supplies for their work as typing paper, notebook paper—"we only have the two-ring variety,"—Lasell stationery, desk blotters and ink. Procuring these necessitates a bit of standing in line, and in this line friendships between members of the community are often begun.

This is Raymond Wass, one of our most charming and genial leading citizens. Mr. Wass is well known for his desire for growth and progress, his genuine interest in his neighbors, his informal talks at town meetings and cultural gatherings, his warm smile, and the air of distinction his presence lends our community.

Two gracious citizens are Dean Rothenberger and her secretary, Mrs. Whelpley. Dean Rothenberger is president of our women's club, a prominent member of the school board, and a leader in the social activities of the town.

Since most of the citizens look forward to careers after leaving the town, happily, there is available a staff composed of Dean Blatchford, Dean Atwater, and Miss Morse who act as our efficiency experts, job counselors and an employment agency. They devote their time to advising us on our prospects and capabilities, to seeking out jobs for us, and teaching us how to find our own.

The Head of the Aldermen, Sandy, and Her Honor the Mayor, Sally, shown here with their staff and committees. These are the town officials, in whom we have entrusted all rights and privileges regarding the government and execution of justice in the community.

Miss Babcock, our advisor, is shown here in her role as Madam Chairman at a Town Meeting.

Here, business of the community is carried on, plans are made, items of interest are brought up, ideas are talked over, and all matters of importance concerning the town and the inhabitants are discussed.

Gardner

The house we call our own, stands majestically on the hill... above Woodland Road overlooking the new and old Campus. Many carefree, happy moments shall be recalled when, in future years, we turn our thoughts back to this, our one-year homestead. Within these walls...midnight parties... engagements...“you know” telephone calls...if it's noise, it must be the third floor...attempts at studying...tears...laughter...fatigue...fun...frolic...they all add up to the thirty-three wonderful girls and a house we'll always remember.

“One for all and all for one.”

Casino

At the tip end of Campus...out in the suburbs in back of Woodland Hall...the Senior House that isn't a house. But be it ever so humble, it's our home and we love it. Ah yes, the perpetually icy smoker, the visitors on the fire escapes, the scream of "no water" in the morning, the toot of horns on the back road, and even the rush for tables in the dining hall; not to mention the scramble of the girls getting ready for dates on Saturday nights, the long hours of rather poor bridge, the blaring of records and umpteen radios all tuned to different stations, the borrowing of home-work and clothes. All these are things we shall always remember, and even though we are the aliens, the unwanted, we'll never forget our Casino.

The Lasell Campus and Community Association is the impressive name for the organization which links our community with those surrounding it in social service. Everyone here is given the opportunity to extend a helping hand in Red Cross, hospital or settlement-house work, and in many other branches such as Girl Scouts and 4-H chapters.

Read your Lasell News for information of goings-on in and around our town in the way of city council elections, women's club meetings, and dances at the Winslow Country Club. The News is published bi-monthly by our hometown reporters, feature writers and editors. The Quill, a sister publication, appears three times a year and contains literary contributions such as poems, short stories, and essays written by our budding Hemingways.

Mrs. Butler and Mrs. Bamford are our advisors and are always on hand to help with ideas for original illustrations or supply a missing phrase.

In addition to these smaller publications, we have also an all-inclusive production, the Lamp. This is the book, published once yearly which records for each of us the story of our stay here. In it there are portraits of our fellow citizens, informal shots highlighting big and small activities, pictures of the community, art work, and some commentary. All of which, we hope, will serve to remind us of the fun and friends we've had at Lasell.

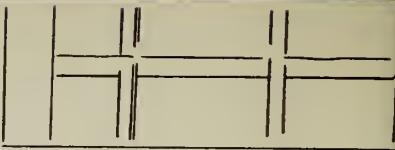

Although we all work all the time—well, nearly all the time—that ambitious group, the Merchandisers, find it necessary to take themselves off to the big city to work even harder for a three-week period, just before Christmas. It's a grind, and to those who are graduating in Merchandising we say, "More power to you!"

Social Events

two year membership

Near the beginning of the second year in town the older citizens take part in Cap and Gown, one of our most impressive ceremonies. It takes place late at night, when we leave our homes, gather near the Municipal Building and start the long walk over the Campus, carrying candles and singing the Cap and Gown song.

Sports are important to the citizens, and a Community Athletic Program has been set up in such a way that there are always one or two sports interesting to everyone. Heads of the Playground and Athletic Association shown here are Miss Tri, Mrs. Berlin and Miss Watt who are responsible for arranging athletics throughout the year. Probably no town of comparative size can boast of such a variety.

The Social Activities Committee, with Shirl Manasen as president, is the newest organization in town. It is made up of representatives from all the other clubs. The S.A.C. coordinates various activities and introduces new ones of its own, such as the square dance. Our community has the reputation of being progressive, and the S.A.C. is another forward step.

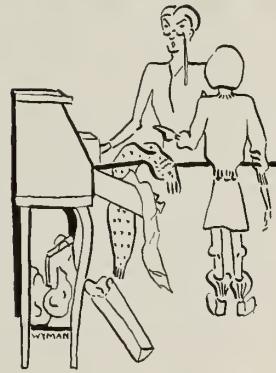

The pictures on this page are of Christmas-time happenings in town, just before the citizens leave for their vacations. New this year was the Christmas Pageant, "Why the Chimes Rang." The regular choir and many of the townspeople took part in this chapel.

The Ladies Aid Bazaar is for the benefit of Our Cause, a very worthy cause. The good ladies join forces every year and turn out an amazing number of aprons, shell jewelry, potholders, knitted goods and innumerable other objects, best of all things of the edible variety. Proceeds, of course, go to the Building Fund, but in addition, the Bazaar is enjoyed immensely by everyone.

AND I'D LIKE ONE OF THOSE,....

The Christmas feeling is brought to us forcefully when on a grey December morning we are awakened by "It Came Upon a Midnight Clear." We stand on the icy floor watching the carolers, then lean out the windows to yell "Merry Xmas!" Slipping into robes we all tear downstairs to start fires and brew up hot cocoa and doughnuts to feed our frostbitten Freshmen sisters. Hearing carols is a wonderful way to start the day-before-vacation.

One of the up-and-coming women's clubs is the Speakers' Bureau, presided over by Chim Talbot. This is a group made up of townspeople who have shown an interest in and talent for public speaking and allied activities. Speakers' Bureau members introduce guests at programs in the Municipal Building, and bring to the community other interesting people who speak at club meetings in City Hall. In addition, the Speakers' Bureau is very active in Building Fund projects, such as the extremely popular Bridge and Fashion Show.

Long, long rehearsal...Miss Wethern's patience...Hard work planning and building the sets...Lasell performance Thursday and Friday, a Babson one Monday...Nick's hilarious speech on the invention of the bottle...Pat Hyde won her man...The beaming Potters...Handsome Johnny Case...The distinguished Setons...Flighty Laura...Businesslike Seton Crane...“Holiday,” and a wonderful evening of entertainment.

WHITE MOUNTAIN

After midyear exams are finished and we are very nearly finished by them, we pile out of bed on a dark, Friday morning to embark via ski-train for the White Mountains and three of our most hilarious days while living at Lasell. Can't ski? No matter, there's skating and tobogganing, hot cocoa at noon in the woods, rides up the ski-tow and the companionship in the evening around the fire.

With Spring, the more elite of the community tire of New England weather, don stunning new ensembles and board plane or ship for Bermuda. Ah, romantic Bermuda! Or perhaps it isn't the weather. Possibly the cause for the exodus may be Harvard or Yale or Princeton or Dartmouth. But even without these attractions, the Bermuda trip is a wonderfully exciting one.

Although we look forward all year to Pops, when the night finally arrives our excitement catches up with us, especially when, just after having heard "Some Enchanted Evening," we see Arthur Fiedler raise his baton to the right balcony in a salute to Composer Richard Rogers. Pops is even better than we had dreamed. Most of us sing with Orphean, but even if we don't, it's a thrill just to sit there, drinking pink lemonade and feeling proud to be from Lasell.

Pink roses are a magic wand that turn the Municipal Building into the country club for a memorable May night, just after Pops. The air is soft and warm, the music is perfect as we dance, tulle skirts floating around us. But as we sprinkle our flowers, and slip off our sandals, we suddenly remember that for some of us, this May Cotillion is the last "big dance."

CARNIVAL

EVENTS

After the races, there is a wonderful picnic on the Community Athletic Field. Then we troop into the Municipal Building, as noisy as we've ever been, while the Seniors, and Faculty entertain us. What joy to see the Secretarial Department playing "Sweet Adeline" on a dishpan and an ironing board. Everyone leaves Stunt Night in the highest possible spirits, and another link is forged between the citizens and their employees.

One of the biggest days in the late spring, a season filled with big days, is the one of the Community Outing and Barbecue, comparable to a grandiose Sunday-School Picnic or Fishermen's Fair. Absolutely everyone goes down to the banks of the Charles, dressed in dungarees, swinging cameras, munching pop-sicles. Some of us don firemen's caps or feathers and war paint and pile into the canoes to take part in the races, while our comrades leap up and down at the water's edge. Sometimes on the way home, we snake-dance through Auburndale.

Reports from outside have it that our community has more than its share of pretty girls. True or not, it was still hard to choose the May Queen and her court, but we were very proud of them all as they walked beneath the leafy arch in their pastel satin gowns. The queen, Eileen Ritschel, and her court: Cissy Platz, Polly Quilty, Sally Hughes, Sandy Pryor and Di Ramsay.

When our community gives any sort of a performance, it really goes all out. Nothing is spared to make that performance the very best possible. The June Fete is a perfect example of this. Everyone who worked on or attended the Circus was impressed by the time and talent that went into it and the obvious enjoyment of the performers. Our Circus was really a circus—three rings, beautiful trapeze artists, myriad clowns, black satin seals wriggling and barking, pop and popcorn, and to top it all off, a perfect June day.

Paris and Dior have nothing on us when we blossom out in the most chic of ensembles at our Fashion Show in June. The whole community turns out to get a glimpse of the avant-garde fashions shown against exciting backdrops.

This is the next-to-goodbye—Class Night. Our time here catches up with us suddenly while we take part in one of the final traditions, traditions which have so enriched our lives in these too-short years. This is the next-to-goodbye, to our instructors, to our house-mothers, to the town, to each other.

Looking forward, as we did, two years seemed a very long time. In retrospect, as we sit for the last time in our caps and gowns, waiting to receive our rewards for services rendered to our friends, to ourselves, and to our community, we can only wonder, "Wasn't it only yesterday?"

This is our town now. Its laughter, and there is much of that, its tears, successes, failures, traditions and progress all belong to us because it is we who make them.

We pass the Lamp on to the new citizens of Lasell. May it always light the road ahead for them and for us. And may it also light the road back, for no matter how great the distance, we are never wholly away from the signpost which points down the road to Auburndale.
